CARSON OPERA HOUSE.

Amberg's New York Thalia Opera Company.

The celebrated Thalia Opera Company, from New York, will appear at the Opera House on Friday evening, May 6th in Milloeker's exquisite composition, "The Beggar Student." It is the best opera in the company's repertoire. Aside from its musical beauties, it is vivacious in action and attractive in scenery, which the company brings with it. The dialogue, is of course in German, but as the piece contains but very little of that and is mostly musical, the dialogical part of the performance will not detract from the pleasure of those not conversant with the German language, and the beautiful music of the opera can be enjoyed the same as if given in pigeon Italian. We clip the following from The Detroit Free Press of recent date.

"The brilliant performance of the Thalia Opera Company last night, was in the nature of a distinct and harmonious musical progression, for it is not unsafe to assert that 'The Beggar Student' was the finest and most artistic offering in their operatic repertoire which has been hitherto witnessed. The principals of the troupe seemed to be endowed with special aspiration, and acquitted themselves of their accepted roles in a highly satisfactory manner. Carl Friese's impersonation of the jesty irascible Orlendorf was a particularly happy bit of character acting, and it is a pleasant duty, also, to record the general admiration which was elicited in no mistaken terms by the superb vocalization of Sophie Offeney and Felix Schmitt in their respective parts, but especially in the charming love scene and finale of the second act. Madame Habrich, likewise, proved to be quite an acceptable Countess, and the patriotic Student was assumed in excellent form by Herr Elsbach."

The company is composed of fifty people, of which thirty-five form the chorus. As the opera will be produced with proverbial gorgeousness of scenery, stage appointments and general surroundings for which the Opera House is justly famous, and with a full orchestra to give harmonious interpretation to Milloeker's masterpiece, the entertainment promises to be superior to anything of the kind we have had here yet. The company will play but one night in this city. The price of admission is one dollar, including reserved seats, cheap enough in all conscience for a first class opera performance and should cram the house. The box sheet is now open.

The Drummers' License.

The Sacramento Drummers' propose to make a test case of the Drummers' License law. The following speaks for itself:

SACRAMENTO, April 20, 1887.
H. L. Smith, Esq., Secretary San Francisco Board of Trade.—DEAR SIR: At a meeting of our Directors held last week I was directed to write you regarding the question of commercial travelers' co-operation of your Board in our endeavors to defeat the imposition of excessive taxes now imposed by the State upon representatives of business houses in Sacramento and San Francisco. And I was also directed to ask you what, if any, action your Board has taken in the matter, and if you have not yet taken any, whether you propose to do so. Our members are under the impression that the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States declares as unconstitutional the imposing in one State of a tax upon citizens of another for soliciting trade and patronage. At any rate, they think that the sums exacted by the Nevada officials from travelers for our business houses are illegal, exorbitant and extortionate, and that they are not warranted by any law, and can be honestly and legally avoided. Accordingly, I advise you of these matters, with the request that you, at your earliest convenience, bring the matter before such of your people as may be interested, and let our Board know your intentions.

Very truly yours,
ALBERT W. JOHNSON,
Secretary Sacramento Board of Trade.

—Bierce in the Examiner gives us the following:
On Friday it was telegraphed from Washington that Nevada was the only State in the Union that had no application for the vacant place of Consul-General at Paris. On Saturday no business was done in Nevada; it was Application Day.

SOL FRANKEL'S ADVENTURE.

The Preliminary Examination of His Assailant.

The evidence at the preliminary examination of John Quinn, the Virginia City miner who is accused of having tried to kill Sol Frankel, by whose failure he has lost all his earnings, was concluded in Police Judge Lawler's court in San Francisco. Frankel testified that while in the train the other side of Sacramento he was accosted by Quinn, who demanded a settlement and threatened to kill him if he did not pay over the money he owed him. According to the broker's story, Quinn drew his pistol, when he pleaded that he had no money to pay. He also said that Quinn had six weeks before tried to kill him in Virginia City. Frankel became feebly excited when giving his testimony, and declared vehemently that "Quinn was after plut."

The defendant took the stand in his own behalf and flatly denied Frankel's story.

He said that he did not follow Frankel, and his meeting with him on the train was entirely accidental. He greeted Frankel with the remark that he was glad to see him, and asked when he got out of jail.

Frankel invited him inside and there Quinn asked for settlement, not, however, making any threats. Frankel immediately, so Quinn says, jumped up and put his hand on his hip pocket. Then Quinn drew his weapon, but was at once disarmed by Ader S. Mann.

Mr. Mann testified that he did not hear Quinn threaten to kill Frankel.

Several witnesses were present to testify to Quinn's excellent reputation, but only one, Congressman Woodburn, of Nevada, was called.

Judge Lawler took the case under advisement, and announced that he would render a decision this week.

The Election.

Nothing like the unruffled quiet of yesterday's election was ever seen in Carson City. The only excitement that was caused was by some parties who came into town with a two horse wagon under the impression that a large force of hoodlums were to appear in the streets with a sack and that votes were to command $7 50 apiece. When they learned that nothing of the kind was going to happen and that votes were not even worth a glass of beer, they began hunting for the parties who fooled them, with blood in their eyes.

There was but one ticket in the field—the ticket mentioned last week in the APPEAL. The few cranks who had been predicting that some other ticket was to be sprang, were very much disappointed.

Late in the afternoon a crank ticket made its appearance, but it only excited a smile on the street, and here and there a man would agree to vote it, "just for a guy."

The election resulted in the success of the regular ticket. The figures were as follows:

Bryson (at large), 138.
Klein, 51.
Wooley, 85.
C. N. Harris, 1.

Treatment of Defaulters.

The Chinese National Bank Examiner when on his round among the banks, always takes with him a block, an axe and a bag of sawdust. The use for these articles will suggest itself when it is stated that the decapitation of the defaulting officials of the Tong Lung Bank has been ordered. A shortage means a good deal more to a Chinese bank officer than it does to his American compeer.

—The schools will be kept open until July 1st.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.

MRS. PRAY'S GOOD SENSE.

She Prevents an Accident by Her Calmness.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Pray was driving a spirited horse along Main street. She was accompanied by Mrs. Fisher and two children. At Hark's corner the horse shied, and becoming unmanageable dashed up against the sidewalk, and then breaking into a gallop started up the street. Mrs. Pray allowed the horse to take about two jumps, and seeing some men rush out turned him to the right and locked wheels with an express wagon. This checked the animal's course sufficiently to allow several men to get to its head, while several more reached the heads of the express horses. The ladies then got out, all hands as cool as cucumbers and no one hurt. The carriage shafts were broken. By Mrs. Pray's steady hold on the lines a very serious accident was averted.

ALL SORTS.

—Recently a young lady in St. Louis was taken away from a fifty pound tumor.

—Trenmor Coffin has been appointed School Trustee vice C. S. Preble, resigned.

—There is talk of making Siberia a penal colony for the United States. What's the matter with Oregon.

—General Irish has received his last commission, and is now authorized to act as U. S. Surveyor General.

—On Sunday evening Con. Sullivan, a miner, was shot and severely wounded by Pat. Connelly, in Lower Gold Hill.

—It is generally understood now that Fischer & Decker's Beck beer is strong enough to knock out almost any ordinary man.

—Mrs. J. T. Benham, mother-in-law to Attorney General Alexander, is in Carson from her home at Spokane Falls, on a visit to her daughter.

—George Hark has returned from San Francisco. He left his black pacer with Jim Orndoff, who thinks he will develop into a remarkable animal.

—There is now talk of fitting out an expedition to the South Pole. As we were about to remark, in the general scramble for the North Pole the South Pole has been sorter overlooked.

—Grace Hawthorne, who has been on the stage about twelve years, is going to Europe to take dramatic lessons. It would be a good idea if more of the profession would adopt this plan.

—There has been a great sensation kicked up in Los Angeles, because Porter Ashe abducted his child, Alma Ashe. There is talk of a big divorce suit, betting on the wrong horses, scam may etc.

—Frankie Whitcombe, who sailed for Victoria with Clark, the defaulting Truckee clerk, said to a friend: "I've got a sucker on the string who got away with $7,000 from a Truckee mill-owner and gone to Victoria. He has sent me $200 and I am going to join him."

—A correspondent wants to know if the German opera to be produced here has a ballet connected with it. Certainly; the Germans never think of producing opera without a ballet, and furthermore, some of the singers wore their dresses so low in front that the virtuous Examiner objected to it. Reserved seats at Tobriner's cigar store.

—The Inter-State Commerce law has raised freights in some instances from points in California to this place. The freight on a buggy from Sacramento to Dayton was formerly $6 50. Now it is $23. Someone had better start a wagon factory at Reno.—Dayton Times.

We already have a first class wagon and carriage factory at Carson run by Mr. Torreyson. No one in Carson need ever send below for a first class carriage.

Annual Meeting of the S. T. Swift Engine Co., No. 3.

All the members of the S. T. Swift Engine Co., No. 3 are requested to meet this Tuesday evening, May 3rd at 7:30 at their Engine House for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. By order, S. T. SWIFT, President.
